Every Living Thing (All Creatures Great and Small) WHY TO LOVE AND RESPECT ANIMALS

Ralph Waldo Trine

It is said that in Japan if one picks up a stone to throw at a dog, the dog will not run, as you will find he will in almost every case here, because there the dog has never had a stone thrown at him, and consequently he does not know what it means. This spirit of gentleness, kindness, and care for the animal world is a characteristic of the Japanese people. It in turn manifests itself in all of their relations with their fellow men; and one of the results is that the amount of crime committed there each year in proportion to the population is but a very small fraction of that committed in the United States.
