USFactsFirst: A Fact-Filled Guide to the Issues Facing America in Politics, The Economy, Finance, Government, Crime, Education, Health Care & The Media with Discussion Questions for Each. Joseph D Coons

USFactsFirst is a thorough review of the issues that Americans have been debating intensely in recent years. The author tells you how he was tired of seeing, hearing and reading confusing claims and reports about fifteen of our most important issues: Politics, Healthcare, the National Debt, Taxes, Incomes, Education, Financial Institutions, and more. Determined to get the facts straight, Joe Coons spent almost two years gathering accurate data from unimpeachable sources and then, always, carefully and clearly putting it into perspective. Written in a non-partisan, frank, understandable style, and illustrated with clear data including 28 color charts, he lets you draw your own conclusions except when there is no controversy. Then, to make this a chance to develop your thinking further and involve your family and friends, he ends the discussion of each subject with stimulating, relevant questions for you to consider. Early readers universally praised the book and recommended it to U.S. citizens and voters, and especially to anyone in an elected position, or involved in community, state or national leadership. They also emphasized its use as a primer on these issues for younger citizens. The book has 148 pages including 28 color charts and numerous references. His massive data file is also separately and freely accessible to readers at its web site.
