Home at Last (Signet Eclipse) Jerri Corgiat

The youngest daughter of the O'Malley clan, Marigold (Mari), returns to Cordelia, Missouri after her big city career took a lurch in the wrong direction, propelled by an affair with a married man. At home, she is enlisted by her sisters to take care of their mother, recovering from a heart attack and subsequent surgery. Mari's heart needs mending, too, though, and the tonic she finds is strong medicine--a relationship with a "bad boy" childhood friend. In HOME AT LAST, Ms. Corgiat tells the story of many journeys home--not just Mari's, but that of the troubled children of Lilac and Jon, the focus of the first book in this moving series.

HOME AT LAST is part of the LOVE FINDS A HOME series. All five books, originally published by Penguin's Signet imprint to critical acclaim, are set in Cordelia, Missouri. Two were featured selections of Literary Guild, Doubleday and Rhapsody book clubs. Although the books do not need to be read in order, HOME AT LAST is the third in the series.

ABOUT JERRI CORGIAT

Award-winning author, editor and former bookseller Jerri Corgiat lives in the Midwest with her husband, son, dog Rosie—and the true queen of the house, their cat, Princess Piggy-Britches. Their home is located in rolling woodlands reminiscent of the Ozarks, where she spent her childhood summers and where the Love Finds a Home series took root in her imagination. She is currently working on her sixth book.
